The Island State

Tasmania is Australia's only island state. Located just 240km from the Australian mainland, Tasmania offers a unique environment for study, work and holidays. Gain your education in a place where modern urban cities meet stunning natural wilderness. The people are friendly, the air is clear, the culture is rich and the lifestyle is relaxed. Tasmania has something for everyone, no matter what their taste.

Founded: 1803

Size: 68,331 Square Kilometres (comparable in size to Ireland or South Korea)

Population: 510,000

Getting here

Separated from the Australian mainland by a stretch of water known as the Bass Strait, Tasmania is accessible by air or sea.

By air

The quickest way to reach Tasmania is by air. Australia's major airlines offer frequent flights between Tasmania and Australia's major cities. A flight from Melbourne to Tasmania's capital city Hobart will take just 50 minutes, and Melbourne to Launceston will only take 35 minutes. A flight from Sydney to Hobart will take less than two hours. Airlines Jetstar, Qantas, Virgin Australia and Tiger often offer sale fares, so prices can vary.

For information on flights, see the "Useful websites" section on the back cover of this booklet.

By sea

Devonport, in the north-west of Tasmania, is home to the State's main ocean port. Two ferries, the Spirit of Tasmania I and II, operate regular day and night crossings between Melbourne and Devonport. Fares will vary depending on the type of ticket purchased.

For information on booking a ferry to Tasmania, see the "Useful websites" section on the back cover of this booklet.

Our Main Cities

Tasmania's cities provide all of the attractions and facilities of modern western culture. Our cities are easy to navigate, and public transport is simple, meaning that in a short period of time you could be in the countryside, at a beach, or on a mountain.

The buildings in our cities are largely influenced by European architecture; on a quick walk along our streets you may see buildings ranging from colonial to ultra-modern architectural eras.

Hobart

Located on the Derwent River with the sprawling backdrop of Mount Wellington, Hobart is a place where the urban landscape and the natural environment merge together.

Founded in 1803, Hobart is Australia's second oldest city behind Sydney. As the capital city of Tasmania, Hobart is the finance and government centre of the State.

Home to approximately 210,000 people, Hobart offers you the opportunity to lead a relaxed and exciting lifestyle. Festivals, art and cultural activities, sports and outdoor pursuits are a regular part of everyday Tasmanian life.

Things to do

- Get a fantastic view of greater Hobart from the top of Mount Wellington, accessible via road or one of the many scenic walking tracks.
- Sample the best of Tasmania's fresh produce when the annual Taste of Tasmania Festival operates between December 28 and January 3.
- Visit Salamanca Market (held weekly on Saturday mornings) to explore Tasmania's finest arts and crafts, woodwork, food, jewellery and collectibles.
- Be amazed at the art collections on show in the world-renowned architectural masterpiece known as MONA (The Museum of Old and New Art), Australia's largest privately owned museum.
- Take the ferry to nearby Bruny Island and visit the many cafes, fruit farms and vineyards.

Launceston

Founded in 1806, Launceston is situated inland in the north of Tasmania, at a point where three rivers meet. Home to a population of 105,000, Launceston is recognised for its historical architecture, with many Victorian and Georgian buildings beautifully preserved. In this charming city you have the chance to live a relaxing and rewarding lifestyle.

Things to do

- During the winter months, take a day-trip to nearby alpine park Ben Lomond for some skiing or snowboarding.
- Do some star gazing at the Queen Victoria Museum and Art Gallery's Planetarium, located at Inveresk.
- Spend the day at the Cataract Gorge with friends. Set within an ancient extinct volcano, the Gorge is the perfect spot for a picnic, swimming, and rock-climbing. It is also home to the world's longest single-span chair lift.
- Barrack for a team at an Australian Football League (AFL) game. Launceston's Aurora Stadium is host to four AFL games per year and attracts crowds from all over Australia.
- Celebrate Tasmania's fine food and wine at the annual Festivale, held in February at the Launceston City Park.

Tasmanian weather

Tasmania has a "temperate" climate. This means that our summers are not too hot, and our winters are not too cold. Similar to Switzerland, France, Chile and Italy, we have four distinct seasons in Tasmania: Summer, Autumn, Winter and Spring.

Summer

December, January, February

Warm days, afternoon sea breezes and long evenings.

The sun is very strong because of the clear atmosphere, so you will need to use sunscreen and wear a hat.

Average maximum temperature is 22°C or 72°F.

Autumn

March, April, May

Calm, temperate days with clear blue skies and cooler evenings. The days begin to get shorter as "daylight saving" time comes to an end, and colourful leaves begin to fall.

In late Autumn, you may need to wear a sweater as the weather starts to cool.

Average maximum temperature is 20°C or 68°F.

Winter

June, July, August

Skies remain clear and blue and there is sometimes snow on the mountains.

Enjoy hot food and warm log fires – and don't forget to wear a coat and gloves!

Average maximum temperature is 13°C or 55°F.

Spring

September, October, November

Cool mornings turn to warm afternoons and the days begin to get longer as "daylight saving" time begins.

Gardens throughout the State begin to bloom and skies are often swept with light clouds.

Average maximum temperature is 18°C or 64°F.

Student Living

Living arrangements

Tasmania offers a variety of living arrangements in small, safe, accessible and modern cities. TasTAFE has campuses in both of Tasmania's main cities, Hobart and Launceston, so you are able to choose which city you would like to live in.

Depending on your preferences, you are also able to choose what sort of accommodation you would like. You have the option of living in a private rental property, in on-campus accommodation, or with a homestay family. The costs and details of each of these options are outlined below. If you have any questions, or need help arranging your accommodation, just let us know.

Private Rental

If you would like to live independently, then a private rental property is a good option. Houses or apartments can be rented in a number of suburbs close to your TasTAFE campus. For Launceston students these suburbs include Launceston centre, Invermay, Mowbray, Newnham, Trevallyn, West Launceston and East

Launceston. For Hobart students, these suburbs include Hobart centre, Sandy Bay, North Hobart, South Hobart, West Hobart, Howrah and Bellerive.

Properties range from a one-bedroom apartment to a four-bedroom "share house" in which you could live with friends or fellow students. In a private rental, you will be responsible for preparing your own meals, doing your own laundry and paying your own electricity bills.

Rent for a one-bedroom apartment may cost AU$200 per week, whereas a bedroom in a share house could cost approximately AU$150 per week. It is a good idea to talk to a real estate agent to discuss your needs.

Remember, properties can take a couple of weeks to find. It would be a good idea to arrange alternative accommodation for this time (such as a homestay) to help you settle into Tasmania.

Homestay

If you would like the experience of living with a Tasmanian family, then TasTAFE can organise a homestay arrangement for you. These arrangements are very flexible – you might like your homestay to include meals and laundry, or maybe you would just like a bedroom. The weekly cost of a homestay will depend on the facilities and services provided for you. For example:

Full board, including food for three meals per day, may range between AU$200–$240 per week. Just a bedroom (without meals) could range from AU$140–$180 per week. The weekly cost is organised with your homestay family, but we can help you by arranging a meeting between you and your homestay host.

On-Campus Living

TasTAFE offers on-campus student accommodation at the Launceston Alanvale campus, and the Hobart Clarence campus. These facilities are also rented by local Tasmanian students, so you have a good opportunity to make new friends and live in an English-speaking environment.

The facilities are fully-furnished units for up to four people. You will have your own private study/bedroom and a shared lounge room, bathroom, toilet and kitchen with basic cooking facilities. The accommodation also includes facilities that are shared by all student residents, such as a games room, student lounge, WI-FI and a coin-operated laundry. The cost of living on-campus (including breakfast) is approximately AU$215 per week.

Public transport

Because Tasmania's cities are simple to get around, we only need one form of public transport: buses. Metro Tasmania is the largest passenger transport company in Tasmania and operates bus services in Hobart and Launceston.

In Tasmania, international students can get a discount on their bus fares, so you can expect to pay AU$15–$20 per week for public transport. An electronic ticketing system, known as a Metro Greencard, is also available which will allow you to pre-purchase your bus fares at a cheaper price.

Driving your own car

If you have a current overseas driver licence and hold a temporary international student visa you can drive in Tasmania on your overseas licence.

When driving in Tasmania:

- you must carry your overseas licence with you.
- if your licence is NOT in English, you must also carry an official translation of your licence OR a current International Driving Permit (available at RACT www.ract.com.au).
- your overseas licence and International Driving Permit must be current (not expired, suspended or cancelled).
- you must obey all Tasmanian road rules

For more information visit www.transport.tas.gov.au/licensing/newtotas

It is also possible for international students to obtain a Tasmanian driver's licence. For information about minimum age requirements and the process for obtaining a licence, please contact Service Tasmania on 1300 13 55 13 or at www.service.tas.gov.au/contact/

Personal Information Card

If you need an official Australian form of photo identification, for accessing licenced premises and for general identification, you can apply for a Personal Information Card. For further information visit: www.service.tas.gov.au/personal_information_card

Groceries + food

If you want to buy fresh food and groceries in Tasmania, you don't have to look far. As well as large supermarkets, we have small gourmet grocery stores, fruit markets and outdoor farmers' markets which operate on weekends. At these markets you will find fresh fruit and vegetables which have been grown in Tasmania.

Tasmania has some small stores that specialise in Asian, African and European groceries. Be prepared, however, to pay a little more for items from your own country.

If you like eating out at restaurants, there are a range of wonderful places offering local and international cuisine. For an Asian dish at a casual eatery, expect to pay AU$10–$20. For a fresh seafood meal, expect to pay approximately AU$30.

Working

Working in a part-time job while you study in Tasmania is a great way to meet new people, earn money, and practice your English.

Finding work in Tasmania is just like finding work anywhere else. The availability of jobs is not guaranteed, however there are plenty of people to help you in your search for a job and give you advice. Students often find work in hospitality and service industries, and earn approximately AU$14–$20 per hour. For information on student visa work conditions visit www.immi.gov.au.

Entry Requirements

Minimum English requirements

Like all other Australian education providers, the entry requirement for studying at TasTAFE is English Language understanding – all of our courses are delivered in English.

If you do not meet the minimum English language requirement for direct entry into your chosen course (see table below), TasTAFE can offer you tuition at the English Language Centres located in Hobart or Launceston.

TasTAFE accepts English language scores from IELTS, TOEFL and the Pearson Test for English. Please submit your latest education transcript and English test results with your application form so that our admissions team can process your application quickly.

If you have not completed one of the above-mentioned English language tests, TasTAFE can provide you with an Oxford Online test to complete.

Please note: Whilst the Oxford Online test is accepted by TasTAFE as a demonstration of English Language level, the Department of Immigration and Border Protection may require an IELTS test as part of your student visa application process. Please talk to your nearest Department of Immigration and Border Protection office for more information.
